At the edge of the Pacific and the coastal hills sits Manzanillo Bay.

The Inn is nestled against the Bay with its eight beachfront bungalows clustered around the swimming pool in the midst of a manicured tropical garden. Each guest bungalow is accented with local artisanship such as terra cotta and hand-painted talavera tiles fired in nearby kilns. The roofs are palm-thatched palapas woven by local craftsmen. Canopies drape each king-sized bed. Natural light and soft tropical breezes seep through the louvered windows and hand crafted plantation doors.

Fabulous weather mandates outdoor living. Each private bungalow includes a patio salon for cocktailing, entertaining, reading, resting or simply contemplating. With double doors wide open, the barrier between private space and universe erodes. Doze in your hammock, or lounge on the colorful patio furniture. Soak up the tropical surroundings and the timeless energy of the nearby surf to renew your perspective.
